Subject: DPP Stats

Pat asked me to forward the following information to the Workgroup:

As of August 1, 2009, DPP had 53,446 offenders under supervision for criminal offenses. Of that total, 26,882 or 50% had conditions assigned to their release orders (probation or parole) requiring a referral to the treatment system.

In July 2009, DPP received 2,614 new cases and of that total, 1376 or 53% had conditions requiring a referral to the treatment system.

The static (daily) population of the Drinking Driver Monitor Program is approximately 16,000 offenders. By definition, all of them are in need of some form of intervention.

Please share this information with the rest of the committee.

thanks
